general tightness of money the new trolley ines have not been able to raise the cash required for their construction. This inability supplemented by the necessity for economy on the part'of existing lines resulted in a nearly total paralysis of the copper wire trade.
This led to a great and immediate curtailment in the demand for copper, the wire trade being one of the largest consumers of the American copper supply. This caused rapidly increasing stocks of the metal, and the situation was aggravated by the unusually high price of copper early in 1907—for which high price ronsumers rather than producers should shoulder the blame. As a consequence of the paralysis of the wire trade, with decreased demands in other lines supplemented by unduly high prices, the copper industry was caught in a peculiarly vulnerable position, and has suffered accordingly.

The market for the metal has not yet found a sure level, but such a level of price is like:ly to be found near the present range of quotations. The drastic measures taken by Montana and Arizona mines in practically cutting production in half are being supplemented to some extent by the Lake Superior mines, to some extent by the Lake Superior mines, which with slightly reduced forces are undertaking such dead work as is necessary with consequent curtailment of output.

I can see no indications of any boom in either the copper metal trade or in the market for shares for at least a year to come, and possibly not for several years. Some little time will be required to work off the accumulated stocks of copper, which although by no means as large relatively as those accumulated by the Secretan Syndicate are sufficient to chasten the spirit of the producers. Furthermore there is a Presidential election coming next year, and this unfortunately is a year of business under check, the curtailment ranging from a slight cessation of activity to a very marked depression.

The copper industry, however, is fundamentally sound, for the reason that this product is a necessity in twentieth century civilization. A general collapse of the copper industry is not to be looked for, but a collapse of overstimulated copper demand and prices not only is here but is likely to remain here for some time.

HILL CITY, S. D., Oct. 16.—President John Truax of the American Tungsten Mining tompany reports excellent progress on his property, which is situated about five miles east of Hill City. During the last few years the America, Tungsten company has made some interesting experiments with tungsten, for which there is a growing field. There is a finely equipped mill on the property which is capable of treating fifty tons a day. A shaft has been sunk over 100 feet, from which level a drift was run and a body of tungsten encountered. Further development of this vein is indicating the presence of a considerable quantity. Tungsten is used in the hardning of steel and the market demands more than can be supplied.

MONTANA.

HEIRNA, Oct. 16. New York men have purchased outright and secured options on thousands of acres of land lying from twelve to thirty miles east of this city and purpose carrying out the largest dredging scheme ever strempted in Montana. The ground extends from Canvon Ferry almost to the head of Confederate Guich along the Missouri River in the spring the purchasers will install ten dredges. Confederate Guich is a famous early day mining district, and one acre therein holds the world's record for actual result in placer mining, having in one season yielded a little more than a million dollars. The territory also embraces the famous Fidorado Bar section along the Missouri River, which yielded many thousands to the early placer miners. From the discovery of gold in Helena to the present day placer mining has been conducted in Confederate Guich with aplendid results. There is still much land in the guich that it has not been profitable to work because of the expense of getting down to water but which can be handled by a dredge at comparatively no expense. For several years a Mitwaukee company has been operating in the guich, and it is among those who have sold out to the New York concern. E. B. The Copper Cable Mining and Milling Company of Missoula has filed articles of incorporation with the Secretary of State for the purpose of developing ten claims situated near Plains, in Sanders county. In one of these a granite lead has been found which is two and a half feet wide and which assays 121 to 14 per cent, copper.

The Excelsior Mining Company of Butte has purchased six claims from McKennaugh & Moore in the Boulder district for $1,000 each. A funnel is being driven to tap the ore body.

J. Heery, who is developing the Buck Mountain and Pennsylvania claims in the Boulder district, has encountered an eight inch vein of ore which runs high in copper, silver and lead and slight values in gold.

The Washoe smelter at Anaconda, having curtailed its working force, has also cut down treatment of commercial ore in a marked degree. This action is felt in only one Corbin mine, the Bertha, owned by the Boston and Corbin Company. The shipments of ore from that property are curtailed to the extent of perhaps 40 per cent. In the other mines work continues as usual. A good strike of copper ore has been made in the Black Jack, owned by a New York and Helena syndicate, is producing and shipping ore. The Chicago and Alta Extension Company is also shipping to East Helena smelters.

Reports from the Zortman district, in Chouteau county, indicate that the strike in the Alabama mine of the Little Rockies Exploration Company is of great magnitude, in addition to being the richest ore ever found in the district, assaying $150 a ton. The vein is pronounced by experts to be permanent beyond question.

The bond secured by the New York syndicate on the Ruby Gulch group in the same district, calls for a cash payment of $1,000,000 on January 1 next. The amount of the bond has not been made public, but is understood to be ten times that figure.

W. F. McQuade of Brooklyn, president of the Eclipse-Argo Mining Company, operating across the Missouri River from Helena in Hellgate canon, has just completed an examination of the property. Orders have been issued for a new 150 ton concentrating mill to replace the present one of lifty tons capacity. The mine is shipping regularly. Plans are also on foot to operate the property by electricity.

The Spring Hill Company, operating the old Pittsburg and Montana iron mine south of the city, which developed into a gold property, has begun treating its ores at the Whitlatch-Union mill until it can build one of its own on lake Hauser.

A strike of high grade ore, with values ranging from $100 to $150 a ton in gold, has been made in the Cone Butte mine, the property of John A. Drake, the Chicago-New York multimillionaire hotel and turf man. There are four other veins on the property, but of a lower grade.

A five foot fissure vein has been found in the property of the Copper Belle Mining Company, near Martinsdale, Meagher county. The values are high in copper, silver, lead and gold, and the vein has been traced on the surface for a mile and a half. The company has been incorporated with a capital of $1,000,000.

The Rock Rose Mining and Milling Company, operating just west of the Helena limits, has struck native copper at the water level.

BUTTE. Oct. 16.—Officials of the companies concerned say that during the last week the production by the Amalgamated. North Butte and Butte Coalition companies has been just a fourth of what it was last June. Instead of 10,500 miners there have been working during the last week not to exceed 2,500 men in the Butte mines. The companies are still mining the same grade of ore that was taken out before the orders for curtailment were given, and the cost of production has been considerably advanced, some estimates placing it at 12 cents a pound. No action has yet been taken by the mining companies looking toward a reduction in wages of miners, although according to the terms of the contracts entered into some months ago the men are due to return to the old scale of 35.50 per day.

The Barnes King Development Company situation is fully disclosed in a report made to stockholders by President John Gillie and the new board of directors. After an exhaustive examination of the mines in Fergus county President Gillie and Vice-President C. W. Goodale find that the company has probably $50,000 worth of ore in sight, for which the stockholders paid approach to the company took over the property, so that in the opinion of the new officers the property practically had no value when it was capitalized for $2,000,000. The experts who examined the property for the promoters were Will Word of Helena, formerly an Amalgamated engineer well known in certain sections of the West.

Cheely, who represented the promoters in Butte and took the Butte subscriptions, had great faith in the reports of the experts and the Judgment of Campbell and Lalor, and is now a ruined man because of the investments he made in Barnes King stock. The promoters assert that they paid $1,200,000 to E. W. King and his associates for the property, but it is known that an option of $400,000 on the property was turned down by others. The promoters gave the new company the property acquired and a treasury of $400,000 in exchange for the $2,000,000. The treasury still contains about $200,000, which is to be used for development purposes in the hope that another ore body will be found. The mines did not pay expenses, it is said, for some time before they were turned over to the new company, and the latter had to pay an overdraft at the bank for $24,700.

All work at the Stewart mine in the Cœur d'Alenes, owned by F. A. Heinze, has been stopped. The reason for the suspension is not known, but is presumed to be in the fact that the property on which the Stewart mill is situated has become involved in litigation. The mill is on the Silver King lode, adjoining the Stewart, and the Silver King is owned by the Cœur d'Alene Development Company, with which Heinze is at law.

The East Butte Copper Mining Company has stopped all dead work and will do no more shaft sinking or crosscutting until there is an improvement in the metal and financial markets. The company has a good treasury, but intends to conserve its funds. All the work that will be done by the company itself will be to further open some of the new ore bodies. Lessees will continue to do some mining on the upper levels, but under the prohibitive rates fixed by smelters they can ship only very high grade ore and concentrates.

The suggestion was made that in vision to be seesed and the price might so be seen to be present output, it was intimated, would result in another drop in price.
